USED ABBREVIATIONS AND ICONS

CBD – Cannabidiol is, together with THC, the most abundant substance found in the hemp plant. CBD is not psychoactive and, according to studies and research, has many beneficial uses for human and animal health.

CBG – Cannabigerol is another cannabinoid found in the hemp plant. Like CBD, it is not psychoactive and, according to the studies and research, has similar effects as CBD.

THC – OUR PRODUCTS DO NOT CONTAIN THC AT ALL, OR ONLY IN LEGAL – HOMEOPATHIC LEVEL. Tetrahydrocannabinol (THC) is one of over eighty cannabinoids. It is a major psychoactive substance, found primarily in hemp flowers.

Raw Raw food is based on the idea that a cooked diet significantly loses its nutritional value. It considers borderline to be about 42 °C above which nutrients and important enzymes are destroyed.

Organic Organic agriculture takes into account natural cycles and dependencies in nature. It is based on the principles of an ethical approach to farmed animals, environmental protection, resource conservation, and biodiversity conservation.

Hemp for your health

There is a solution for every problem, an herb for every disease. Hemp is an herb with amazing benefits that everyone can use in everyday life.

Hemp contains substances called cannabinoids, including the beforementioned CBD and CBG. Cannabinoids create the human body itself and control the endocannabinoid system, which affects many vital functions. Cannabinoids are also present in breast milk, for example.

Simply put, hemp through cannabinoids, harmonize natural processes in the body and soothe the nervous system. If the body calms down and harmonizes, it can cope with a lot of health problems - that's its natural ability. It is unbelievable how much hemp and the human body have in common.

Be inspired by how hemp products can also benefit your health. Let's start with hemp tea - infusion from hemp herbs. People use it for better sleep, digestion and generally calm down.

CBD products harmonize the nervous system and basic processes in the body. Hemp oil and seeds have amazing nutritional value. They contain omega 3, 6 and 9 unsaturated fatty acids and are therefore great for promoting a healthy circulatory system.

Hemp protein is the highest quality vegetable protein ever. Hemp ointments are great for skin, muscles, and joints.

How our endocannabinoid system works

The endocannabinoid body system is common to all mammals and consists of CB1 and CB2 receptors. It manages basic life processes such as immunity, sleep, food intake, and reproduction. Cannabinoids in hemp, mainly CBD, contribute to the harmonization of the endocannabinoid system and the proper functioning of body processes.

Brain and central nervous system

CB1 receptors are present throughout the human body. They mainly concentrate in the brain and spinal cord.

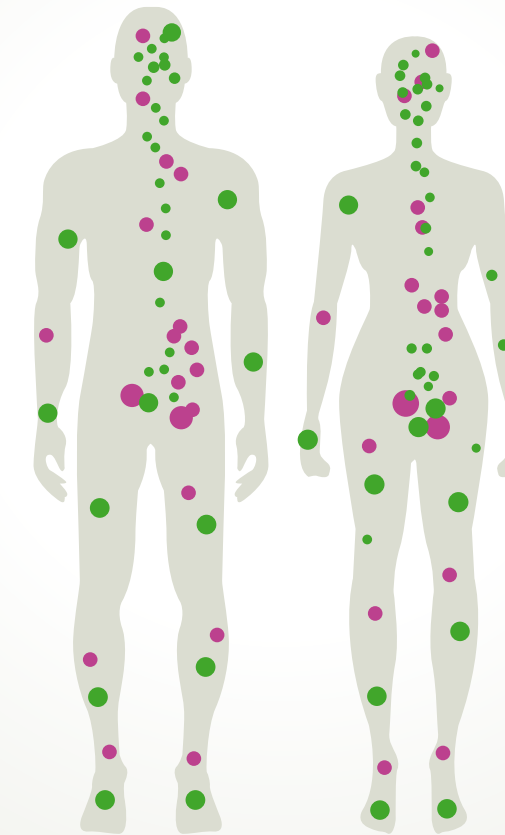

They focus on places that are associated with the behavior they influence, such as the hypothalamus, which affects appetite regulation, or the amygdala, which plays a role in memory and emotion processing. They are also found in the nerve endings, where they help relieve pain.

Immune system

CB2 receptors are mainly concentrated in cells of the immune system and in the peripheral nervous system.

Once activated, they work against inflammation, which is the immune system's reaction. It is believed that these receptors play an important role in the immune response of our bodies to diseases and various symptoms.

HEMP HELPS HOLISTICALLY AT ANY AGE

Your experiences with hemp

Hemp, and especially the cannabinoids contained therein, represent enormous potential not only for human health but also for the whole Earth. Hemp products from Cannadorra have helped tens of thousands of users to enjoy a better and happier life. We thank and humbly present a few examples that illustrate the power of hemp.

I feel relaxed and balanced

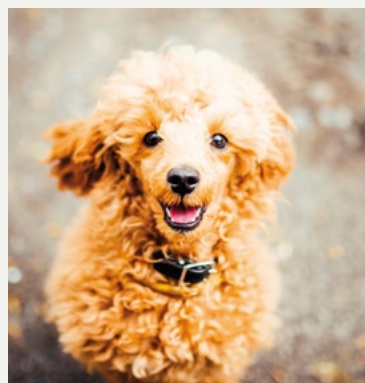

Dagmar

After regularly drinking hemp tea, I stopped taking menopause medicine. Flushes, nervousness have disappeared and I am finally able to sleep well again, as I couldn't before. I feel relaxed and balanced. I also like to prepare meals with hemp protein, oil, and seeds. My granddaughter prefers hemp seeds. Another popular Cannadorra product is hemp ointment with chilli. Every day I lubricate with it my tired feet and sore knees after a long day on my feet.

My dog and hemp

Jane

My experiences with CBG are very good. I gave CBD to the dog first and it helped a bit on his cramp in his stomach. Then MVDr told us that he has Crohn's disease and will not be here for long. After some time, Cannadorra also recommended CBG oil. I gave the advised dosage and a few days later the dog felt as if he had nothing wrong. Even the neighbors wondered what we gave him.

Hemp and I – A teacher

Jane

Hemp and I. I work with children in elementary school and with increasing years, which of course no one of us wants to admit, I started to think more and more about how to keep my body and health in the best possible shape. I often used to go home tired and I didn't want to do anything at home anymore. Based on my aunt's advice, I equipped my kitchen with hemp tea, hemp oil, hemp salt, and hemp seed and started using it. I cannot imagine not spicing up food with hemp salt, and I love a variety of salads covered with hemp oil and sprinkled with seeds. Bread with butter and tomato sprinkled with hemp seed always starts me up. I feel much better and I have put hemp products into my daily diet. Now I am looking forward to the spring full of sun and new strength, and I believe this is because of this magical plant.

I sleep better with CBD

Francis

At my age (84 years) it is no wonder that I suffer from various diseases, but also from bad sleep and some anxiety. So far I have tried CBD oil and hemp tea. Sleep is better (I drink tea twice a day). Recently, I have also tried to test the effects of vaporizing CBD e-liquid with an electronic cigarette. I think the use of CBD hemp is beneficial; I am pleasantly soothed and it also helps with pain.

Every day with hemp protein

Daniel

Sport is for me a life of content, relaxation, and fun. I prepare hemp protein every day, most often with half a banana and rice or oat milk. I feel that it gives my body not only the energy and the necessary substances, as well as speeding up regeneration, but also does not burden it with unnecessary digestion.

CBD certainly yes

Emma

We have a son, Adam, 8 years old, with a diagnosis of ADHD. We started using CBD 5% oil about 3 months ago. About 3-4 weeks later, we observed significant advances in communication and independence. So for us, CBD is certainly a YES and we have had great progress with it. We thank you.

Hemp products

CBD and CBG hemp oils

CBD and CBG enriched hemp oils are unique food supplements that harmonize and support the body's natural processes.

Relieves tension and stress ✓

Positive effect on heart, skin, muscles and joints ✓

Harmonization of natural processes in the body ✓

CBD hemp oils

CBD (cannabidiol) is one of the most abundant cannabinoids that occur in hemp. CBD acts primarily on CB1 and CB2 receptors by protecting them from activation, thereby reducing the overall stress of the body. Hemp oil with CBD harmonizes the natural processes in the body and thus supports its defense. It has a positive effect on heart rate, cholesterol, blood glucose, normal skin condition, and muscle and joint function.

Usage

Suitable as a food supplement for inflammation, pain, depression, epilepsy, psychosis, nausea, multiple sclerosis, neurological problems, diabetes, and common autoimmune diseases.

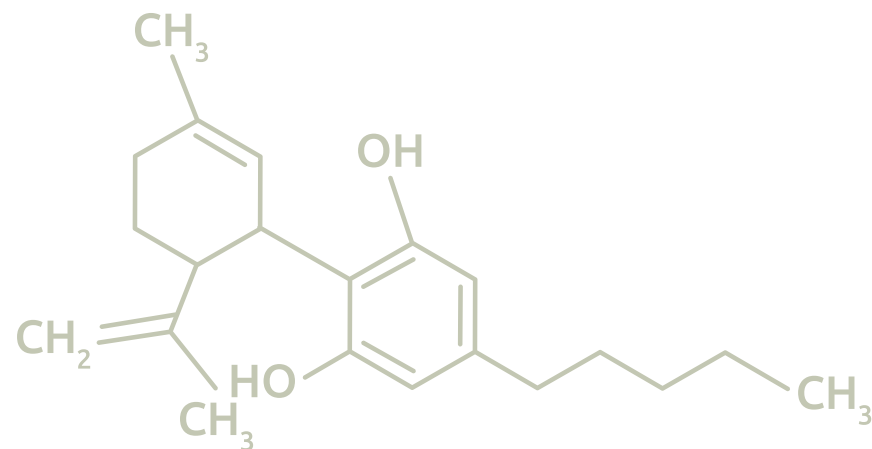

Production of CBD oil

CBD oils from Cannadorra are popular for their purity and delicate flavor, which is ensured by the optimum production process and the highest quality raw materials. Regular analyses and quality controls guarantee maximum therapeutic effect.

Dosage

CBD dosage is dependent on a number of factors: age, weight, metabolism, genetics, and current health. In general, the effective dose starts at 5 mg CBD, which corresponds to the drops of CBD oil per day.

If CBD is new to you, we recommend starting with small doses: 2 drops twice a day (later you can increase the dosage, depending on your health). Alternatively, you can contact us at our hemp counseling center.

CBG hemp oil

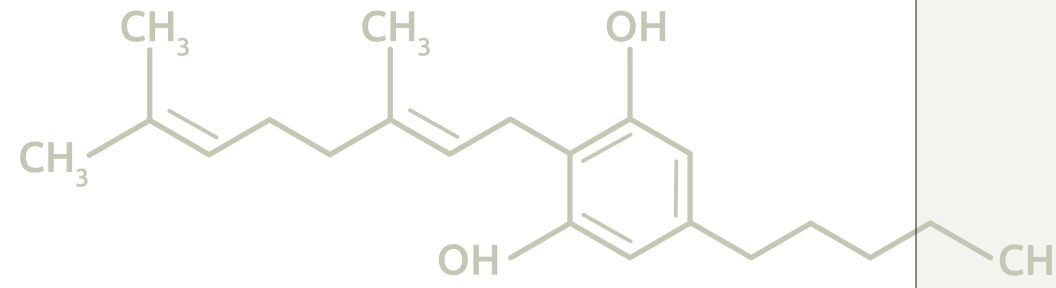

CBG (cannabigerol) is one of the cannabinoids contained in hemp. It is most abundant in the Santhica variety and is carefully isolated.

Most hemp consumers know about CBD, but what about CBG? Many do not know that this substance is present in hemp. So far, CBG is in the shadow of the better-known cannabinoids CBD and THC. However, it is practically a building block for CBD, THC and other cannabinoids.

Production of CBG hemp oil

CBG hemp herb is cultivated under organic conditions in the EU and harvested by hand. The French variety Santhica was specially bred for high CBG content and a low THC content. Hemp tea or CBG oil is made from this herb.

CBG hemp oil harmonizes the basic processes in the body and thus promotes its natural defenses. It has a relaxing effect and a positive effect on the heart, muscles, joints, skin and also on cholesterol and blood sugar levels. It helps with breakage treatment and relieves seizures and cramps. The tea gives the body a deep recovery, mental balance and good digestion.

Usage

Cannabigerol (CBG) is a cannabinoid species that was discovered in the 1960s and has been used primarily in people with central nervous system disorders, including neurological disorders, chronic pain and other problems.

CBG is not psychoactive, it has no intoxicating effect!

Hemp vaporization

Vaporization is a very effective way of receiving CBD and CBG. Active substances quickly enter the bloodstream and subsequently into all tissues and the nervous system. The effect is faster and is an ideal addition to CBD or CBG hemp oils. Users also like the pleasant taste and smell.

What is vaporization

When vaporizing, you do not inhale smoke but only the steam containing the active ingredients. CBD and CBG evaporate from e-liquid or hemp herb at temperatures between 120–180 °C, but the media is not yet burning.

Vaporization is a very popular way of receiving cannabinoids for its quick and relaxing effect.

Faster and more efficient

By vaporization, CBD is more rapidly activated by entering the bloodstream immediately after inhalation rather than through the digestive tract and liver metabolism. Vaporizing will reduce CBD activation time by more than an hour.

E-liquid or hemp herb

E-liquids are a mixture of natural hemp terpenes, vegetable glycerin and propylene glycol with the active ingredient. Hemp terpenes give e-liquids unique hemp flavors like OG Kush, Mango Kush and more. Liquids are inhaled using elegant vaporizing pens.

Hemp herb is a specially selected seedless hemp mix with a higher CBD or CBG content of at least 2%. Available in 2 variants: buds and fine fractions, the herb is vaporized with a practical vaporizer for herbs.

Hemp food

Hemp seed and food produced from it are among the most nutritious in the world and are easily digestible. It is a unique source of protein, essential fatty acids, amino acids, vitamins, minerals, and fiber. Hemp herb is used to prepare relaxing infusions and teas.

Almost half of the hemp seeds are healthy fats, one-third of the recommended protein intake, and the rest are mainly carbohydrates and fiber.

Hemp foods – a unique source of essential fatty acids

Hemp contains more than 80% essential fatty acids, which is the most compared to all other oils. Essential fatty and amino acids cannot be produced in the human body and must be consumed through the diet. Hemp seed contains omega-3, 6 and 9 fatty acids which are at an ideal ratio for the human body. These acids are essential for the proper development and functioning of the brain, reproductive system, and metabolism. Furthermore, hemp contains all 10 known essential amino acids that our body cannot produce and must be supplied in food. Amino acids are the building blocks of protein: they are essential for building muscle tissue and maintaining a healthy immune system. Hemp seed is also a source of a variety of vitamins, such as E, B1, B2, B6, and the minerals magnesium, potassium, calcium, zinc, and iron.

Hemp food

Hemp tea and hemp oil are among the most well-known and popular hemp foods. Whole or hulled hemp seed and hemp protein made from it are also very popular. It is easy to digest, does not contain allergens and has a vegetable origin. Furthermore, there are a number of hemp foods; you may be surprised to find out that there is hemp coffee, hemp chocolate, honey wine or even ghee with hemp.

Hemp tea

Herbal teas from hemp are popular for the content of therapeutic CBD (cannabidiol). Teas help with insomnia, digestive problems, migraines, pain, and respiratory problems. CBD soothes the nervous system, thereby harmonizing the whole body and promoting natural defenses.

Hemp herb is hand-picked and lovingly collected in Bohemia and Moravia. It contains valuable cannabinoids (CBD – Cannabidiol), terpenes, flavonoids, and essential oils. Hemp harmonizes the natural processes in the body, thereby promoting its natural defenses.

It has a beneficial effect on the heart, muscles, joints, skin and also on the level of cholesterol and glucose in the blood. It has relaxing effects, and it is not psychoactive.

The best source of omega 3, 6, 9 unsaturated fatty acids – nutty taste

The main advantage of hemp oil is the balanced ratio of unsaturated fatty acids omega-3 and omega-6, and the high content of chlorophyll, vitamins, and minerals. Gamma-linolenic acid (1 to 4%) makes it one of the most valuable oils of plant origin. This acid is 100% bioavailable and is complementary to EPA and DHA contained in fish oil, the most suitable supplementary source of omega-3 acids of plant origin. Hemp oil helps maintain healthy skin, cholesterol and glucose levels in the blood, harmonizes body processes, thereby promoting natural defenses.

Ingredients: 100% organic virgin hemp oil.

Hemp seed

Hemp seed is said to be the healthiest and most complex food for man. It contains the ideal ratio of unsaturated fatty acids, rare proteins, vitamins and minerals. Hemp seed protects the heart and circulatory system, and supports the body's natural defenses.

Organic hemp seeds

Our organic hemp seed comes from the ecologically certified agriculture CZ-BIO-002. We use only permitted food varieties of hemp that have no psychoactive effects.

The seeds have a fine nut taste. They are suitable for a wide range of applications in hot and cold dishes: you can add them to salads, pasta, dough, bread or pancakes. They can be sprinkled on sauces, soups, porridge, and other foods.

Hulled or whole?

Hulled hemp seed is peeled in a gentle manner to preserve all nutrients. It has a fine nutty taste similar to sunflower seeds or sesame.

The whole hemp seed is crisper and has a firm peel that is harder to eat but contains a large amount of fiber, thereby helping to cleanse the intestines and support the digestive system. For better digestibility, it can be soaked in water for a few hours or ground.

Comprehensive nutrition for body and mind

Hemp seed does not contain gluten. Hemp seeds are peeled gently to preserve all nutrients. It features valuable proteins (albumin and edestin) and all 23 amino acids found in nature. Hemp seed is a natural source of vitamins and antioxidants, calcium, magnesium, potassium, iron, phosphorus, and other bioactive substances. The ideal ratio of essential unsaturated fatty acids omega-3, 6 and 9 is rare, followed by phytosterol, chlorophyll, lecithin, and fiber. Contained substances have a positive effect on heart activity and blood circulation, lower cholesterol and blood glucose levels, have detoxifying effects and completely support the immune system.

For athletes or at high training load

Suitable for high physical and mental loads. The advantage for athletes is the ability of the seeds to break down the lactic acid metabolites responsible for muscle pain.

Cultivation of medicinal hemp

Selection of the appropriate seeds and hemp varieties for cultivation

In the best case, it would be good to get feminized seeds. These are selection seeded seeds with 99% chance of being female. That is, one should not plant males that pollinate females, which then have seeds that are sometimes undesirable for further processing. The males are actually just flowers full of hemp pollen, so we want females.

Cannadorra recommends a CBD rich variety CBD Candy Dawg Kush Fem - it was obtained by crossing the Candy Dawg Kush variety X OG Kush CBD. The CBD/THC ratio is 1:1. This is a suitable variety for the production of concentrates and extracts. This is a photoperiodic Indica for indoor and outdoor.

Inflorescence lasts 8–9 weeks. The variety has a pronounced sweet taste, but also a rich OG Kush fragrance. The adult plant is medium in height-about 1.5 m – and has a shrubby shape.

Selection of a hemp growing area

Hemp can be grown almost anywhere: in the garden, in the greenhouse or in a grow box. For better growth control and lesser impact pests, we recommend a greenhouse or a grow box. For better growth control and lesser impact pests, we recommend a greenhouse or a grow box. Remember to leave enough room for the root system of the plant.

Germination and planting of hemp seeds

Insert the seed directly into the substrate 1 cm deep, pour and leave behind the window. The germination temperature is ideally 25 °C. You have to water regularly and ventilate the room. Sprouts appear within a few days. After the seed sprouts and the plant reaches a height of 15–20 cm, it is ready for planting in the ground or in a large pot. Hemp needs a lot of light at all stages of growth. You have to choose a sunny and sheltered place. Another very important factor is the quality/fertility of the soil. The pH of the soil is ideally slightly alkaline (pH 7 to 7.3).

Hemp growth

Water regularly and check the condition of the plant. If necessary, contact our experts. The growth phase lasts until the end of August and then the plant starts to bloom (until the end of October). It is advisable to trim the plants and thereby influence their height and flower production.

Hemp harvest

Only the female flowers of the plant are collected. First, dry the flowers for 14 days at 20 °C or 3–4 weeks at 15 °C. You can shorten the drying time in the herb dryer. Dried flowers can be used for the preparation of hemp tea or by the conventional methods of preparation of ointments and tinctures.

CBD Candy Dawg Kush Fem strain

The Cannabis sativa strain CBD Medical was bred specifically for medical purposes and contains a balanced content of 2 main cannabinoids. Growth time is about 9 weeks, the plant maturity is reached in October. Hemp seeds were feminized, i.e. out of these hemp seeds, exclusively female plants grow and bloom. This Cannabis sativa strain helps relieve pain, stimulates appetite, helps prevent cardiovascular disease and also helps with diseases such as rheumatism, psoriasis, intertrigo, eczema, and herpes. CBD Medical can also be used as a supportive agent in diseases such as multiple sclerosis and Parkinson's. For the collector's purposes.

Hemp protein

Hemp protein is a high-quality vegetable protein among superfoods. It is ideal for strengthening the whole body, creating and regenerating muscle mass, during diet and detoxification, or after surgeries and injuries. It is easy to digest and is suitable for all ages.

Hemp protein is unique in all 23 amino acids and rare albumin and edestin proteins. Albumin is the major human plasma protein with essential metabolic functions.

It is rich in fiber that contains up to 20%. Hemp creates an alkaline environment in the body and helps detoxify the body by removing toxins and heavy metals from the body.

Regular use improves blood circulation due to hemp protein action on normal heart activity. It has a positive effect on cholesterol and blood glucose levels. It is a natural source of vitamins A, B1, B2, B3, B6, C, D and E. High levels of antioxidants, calcium, magnesium, zinc, and iron are also present in hemp.

It has excellent digestibility and absorbability. It is gluten free and lactose free. Vegans, athletes, and people in convalescence will especially appreciate its biological qualities.

Hemp for animals

All mammals, like humans, have an endocannabinoid body system that affects their basic life functions. Hemp therefore also helps our four-legged pets. It relieves pain and stress, strengthens vitality and health, has anti-inflammatory effects.

Suitable for all animal species

In Cannadorra assortment you will find a wide range of products such as hemp dog dainties, hemp oil that promotes healthy skin, coat and proper muscle function and especially CBD hemp oils that support natural processes in the body.

Hemp counseling for animals

Are you interested in our products, but aren't sure of the choice and the right dosage? Does your lovely pet suffer from health problems you'd like to solve, but don't know how?

In line with our hemp line, we have opened for you a counseling Hemp for Animals, where Lucie will gladly advise you. She is an enthusiastic breeder of dogs and horses and author of hemp line for animals.

CBD oil for animals

CBD acts on the endocannabinoid system of animals (mammals) as well as in humans by protecting CB1 and CB2 receptors from further activation. Thus, CBD has neuroprotective and sedative effects.

CBD (cannabidiol) is one of the cannabinoids contained in hemp. CBD acts primarily on CB1 receptors (those in the brain) by protecting them from activation. Hemp oil with CBD harmonizes the natural processes in the body and thus supports its defenses. It has a positive effect on heart activity, blood glucose, normal skin condition and muscle, and joint function.

Hemp counseling

Cannadorra offers professional hemp advice from professional consultants with many years of experience in hemp and its effects on humans and animals. Find out the right dosage and other important information.

Cannadorra offers competent hemp advice from professional consultants with many years of experience in hemp and its effects on humans and animals. Find out the right dosage and other important information. Hemp problems and their consumption have long been a taboo in our country, and we have not been able to overcome this general lack of awareness in recent years. For this reason, we have set up our hemp consultation for you with questions about hemp, products and their use or experience and advice from other users. Our specialists will gladly recommend a specific product and explain its effects and application specifications. A separate chapter deals with the dosage of hemp products. Every person and every animal receives and reacts individually to hemp, therefore, to obtain the best possible harmonizing or therapeutic effect, it is useful to obtain important information in advance.
